City Reverts to 1920s Ordinance

Inequity Apparent In Ward Voter Representation Here

By RALPH FRATILA
City Council's decision recently to repeal a 1959 ordinance re-establishing ward boundary lines actually did not effect any ward changes because the measure had never been enforced.

The action did accomplish one thing, however. It pointed up the gross inequity that has existed here for years in ward voter representation in Council.

The situation can be graphically illustrated by citing the results of the last municipal election in 1961 in which almost as many votes were cast in the Fourth Ward as in the other three city wards combined—2,000 to 2,094. But despite the fact that the 1959 ordinance was designed specifically to eliminate the disparities among ward populations, it was never implemented, although it remained on the city's "books" until Oct. 16 when it was nullified by Council.

WHY IT WAS NOT ENFORCED requires an explanation that properly begins with the last prior ordinance defining ward lines which was passed in the 1920s. When that measure was enacted, it provided for Council representation based on uniform ward populations, in compliance with Ohio law which states that "wards shall be composed of adjacent and compact territories, as nearly equal in population as possible."

During the ensuing years, population increases in the First and Fourth Wards vastly exceeded gains in the other two wards. To what extent the inequalities grew can be determined by examining official returns of the last three municipal elections here:

Ward One	1,083	1,193	1,188
Ward Two	607	587	577
Ward Three	408	427	329
Ward Four	1,801	2,043	2,000

TO PROVIDE A MORE uniform population split, Council began legislative action in the latter part of 1959 to realign the ward boundaries, and the measure was passed on Dec. 15.

Based on municipal election figures that year, the population breakdown in the redesignated wards would have resulted as follows:

Ward One, 1,088; Ward Two, 928; Ward Three, 1,193, and Ward Four, 1,139.

Under the realignment, the numerical difference between the most and last populated wards would have been reduced to 265, as compared with the 1,616 shown in the 1959 election.

But despite its merits, the ordinance was promptly ruled illegal by the Columbiana County Election Board.

The board's action was based on a hurried opinion from County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, who, asked for an "on-the-spot" ruling and not in possession of all the facts, at the time, assumed that the measure also affected city precinct lines which cannot be altered by a municipality.

PROPOSERS OF ward realignment dispute the election board's ruling, citing a case in Volume 67 of the Ohio Law Abstract wherein a Montgomery County Common Pleas Court classified a board of election as "an administrative agency which has no authority to establish or change boundaries of wards within a municipality."

They claim that a city has the right under "home rule" provisions of the Ohio Constitution to alter ward boundaries. A portion of the Constitution states that a municipality is endowed with "the

Venezuela Bombings Laid to Castro

U.S. Alerts Latins Against Sabotage

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — U.S. diplomats are alerting Latin-American governments against an expected continent-wide Castro sabotage campaign believed launched Sunday with bombings that knocked out one-sixth of Venezuela's oil production.

Authoritative sources in Washington said Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro gave the signal for general terrorist action in Latin America with the American-operated oil fields in Venezuela a prime target. Saboteurs dynamited four power stations of the Creole Petroleum Corp. at Lake Maracaibo, which holds beneath its waters one of the world's richest oil stores. The lake, roughly 75 miles wide and 130 miles long, lies about 300 miles west of Caracas.

The bombers struck shortly after midnight Saturday a few hours after President Romulo Betancourt ordered mobilization of the armed forces to counter what he called the threat to Venezuela of "the reservoir of Soviet nuclear rockets in Cuba."

U.S. officials were reported reminding Latin Americans that while a settlement may now be in sight to dismantle the Soviet missile sites, the long-range problem of dealing with Castro in this hemisphere will remain.

Venezuela blamed the oil field bombing on "Communists." Two suspects were hauled out of the debris-strewn waters of Lake Maracaibo after the blasts destroyed transformer stations of Creole Petroleum, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Police said one of the blasts apparently blew up the saboteurs' boat, killing one of the bombers.

U.S. Continues Watch on Cuba

Seeks Evidence of Missile Dismantling

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. reconnaissance planes focused their sensitive cameras on Cuba today in search of evidence that the Russians are starting to dismantle their missile bases there.

The American quarantine fleet remained on guard in the Atlantic. But no Soviet ships were reported within two or three days' steaming time of the U.S. quarantine line thrown up nearly a week ago.

There was an almost tangible easing of the tension that gripped the nation during the past week of crisis.

There was no accompanying reversal of the military preparations which had been mounting toward an indicating bombing strike or invasion of Cuba.

Informed officials said they don't expect to see any substantial reduction in those land, sea and air preparations at least until this country is convinced the missile threat from Cuba is removed.

Even after that it is almost certain that aerial surveillance will be continued over Cuba to make sure there is no new sneak try at setting up ballistic missiles pointed toward the United States.

Authorities said the 14,000 Air Force Reservists who went on active duty Saturday probably will be kept in service for the time being.

The Pentagon announcement Saturday night that the Reservists were being called up to man troop-carrying planes hinted very strongly at a possible invasion.

Officials believe the significance of this pointed announcement—together with a declaration that appropriate measures will be taken to insure that U.S. reconnaissance aircraft are protected—was not lost on the Kremlin.

They said the United States was speaking to Soviet Premier Khrushchev through these announcements, and they called the announced U.S. military buildup "a most dramatic application of military force to achieve diplomatic ends."

Robert Barr, general chairman, reported that the club expects to realize about $1,200 from the event, the money to be used to augment the organization's crippled children's fund.

Other committee chairmen for the event were Robert McCulloch Jr., Rollin Herron, Donald Roher, Gary Greenisen, George Weyer and Ewing Farrington.

Fast Diplomatic Action Sought In Cuban Deal

French Voters Pass De Gaulle Amendment

Country Awaits His Decision on Retaining Office

PARIS (AP) — France waited anxiously today to see if President Charles de Gaulle considered his referendum victory decisive enough for him to stay on as president. The outlook was that he would and that the nation would continue in a period of bitter political strife.

The country's voters approved Sunday, De Gaulle's proposed constitutional amendment providing for proper election of presidents, an issue which De Gaulle turned into a test of strength with the majority of the nation's politicians. He deliberately tied his political life to a solid majority, saying he would resign if the approval was "weak, mediocre or doubtful."

Margin Less Than Expected
De Gaulle won, but the margin was less than his followers expected, and only a minority of the French electorate approved his proposal.

Complete official returns from metropolitan France, including Corsica, were:

Yes—12,810,848, 61.76 per cent of valid ballots.

No—7,939,399, 38.24 per cent of valid ballots.

The "yes" votes represented only 46.3 per cent of the registered voters. Fully a fourth of the electorate abstained, mostly by staying at home although some cast blanks or spoiled their ballots. De Gaulle's backing on previous referendums had never been less than 56 per cent of all the voters.

DeGaulle In Seclusion
Caretaker Premier Georges Pompidou and Interior Minister Roger Frey hailed the result as a popular mandate for the general, and predicted De Gaulle would take the same view. The president remained in seclusion at his country home at Colombey-les-deux-Eglises where he had voted.

Many of De Gaulle's opponents thought he should remain at the helm, regardless of the vote. However, they challenged it as a mandate. They claimed that without De Gaulle's threat to resign and the Cuban crisis, the proposal would have been soundly beaten.

Far from settling things, the referendum set the stage for a constitutional dispute and further political conflict.

Senate President Gaston Monnerville planned to challenge the legality of the referendum in the Constitutional Council, supreme court for constitutional issues. Under the constitution, the referendum results cannot be proclaimed officially without council approval of the conduct of the vote.

Thant Schedules Talk With U.S., Russians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant scheduled more talks with Soviet and U.S. officials today and made hurried plans for a trip to Cuba in an urgent effort to tie down a Soviet-American deal settling the Cuban crisis.

Thant was to confer separately with Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson and Cuban chief delegate Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui.

The secretary-general and a dozen aides will fly to Havana Tuesday to begin arrangements for U.N. supervision of the withdrawal of Soviet missiles which premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy agreed to in an exchange of letters Sunday. Thant goes to Cuba at Prime Minister Fidel Castro's invitation.

Castro last Tuesday rejected U.N. observers in Cuba. It was assumed here Khrushchev's reversal of the Soviet position on

Yeggs Escape With $500 At Calcutta

CALCUTTA — Burglars this morning entered the L. & M. Hardware Store, broke into the safe and escaped with between $300 and $500, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said.

Mrs. Rhonda Brown, co-owner, reported the burglary at 7:50 a. m.

Chief Deputy Robert Berresford, who investigated, said the intruders gained entry by breaking a window at the rear of the store.

They got at the safe's contents by ripping off a side of the safe with tools found in the store.

St. Clair Township constables said they inspected the store at 4 a.m. and found nothing amiss.

Mrs. Brown was unable to give an exact figure of the loss. She is taking inventory of the safe's contents today.

Deputy Berresford said nothing else appeared to have been taken by the thieves.

Nikita Agrees To Remove Red Missile Bases

Action To Be Done Under Supervision Of U.N. Observers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pushed today for fast diplomatic action to nail down Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement to pull Soviet missile bases out of Cuba.

Washington policymakers held hope—mixed with liberal doses of caution—that a breakthrough has been scored in the U.S.-Soviet confrontation that bordered on potential nuclear conflict.

Khrushchev's pledge was hailed in Western capitals as a stunning victory for the United States.

Informed sources said there were no deals or secret understandings involved with the Soviet leader's offer to dismantle the Cuban bases and return their rockets to the Soviet Union. The only price he asked was a guarantee, which Kennedy gave, that the United States would not invade Cuba.

Work on Arrangements

American diplomats focused on working out arrangements for U.N. inspection of the withdrawal from Cuba of the "grim weapons" which Khrushchev, under threat of forceful U.S. action, dramatically announced he would ship back to the Soviet Union.

U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant arranged to fly to Cuba Tuesday. The U.S. hope is that he can take with him a workable inspection plan to present to Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

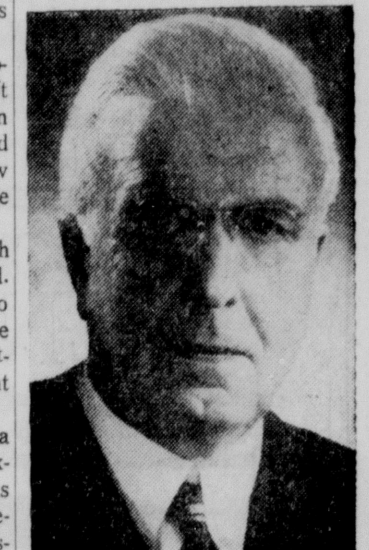

Khrushchev sent Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov to New York to negotiate. He said on his arrival Sunday night, "We are sure peace can be achieved if all parties concerned will exercise good will and a reasonable approach."

No Interceptions Expected

Militarily, the U.S. Navy marked time while Soviet ships once headed for Cuba stayed from two to three days' sailing time away. The State Department announced that while the quarantine against offensive weapons shipments to Cuba continues, it expects no interceptions.

Nikita's Backdown No Sure Peace Sign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev's backdown on Cuba gives President Kennedy a victory but any appearance of peace is illusory and temporary, for Cuba and elsewhere.

Nevertheless, some of the Soviet and Cuban actions in this crisis look stupid if not nutty. The biggest unanswered question still is: Why did Khrushchev decide to put missile bases in Cuba in the first place?

He took the shock out of the crisis Sunday with his astonishingly mild agreement to pull his missiles out. But that doesn't solve the problem of Fidel Castro.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Sebring McKinley High School and American Television and Electronics School in Niles. He is employed at Royal China Company in Sebring.

The couple plan to be married Friday in Robertsville.

Lunch was prepared by Mrs. Leona Munsell and Mrs. Doolan. Mrs. Leah Weddle gave a lesson in "Making Ribbon Poinsettias."

The next meeting will be Nov. 27 at Westville Church.

LEOPARD PATROL of Boy Scout Troop 82 met recently at the home of Billy Early, leader, and practiced the Morse Code.

The patrol will meet Wednesday in the home of Michael Vlaiku.

Mrs. Walter Taylor visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Richardson in Alliance.

Mrs. Fred Lyberger and children of Alliance visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brint Gibbons, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McDonald of East Rochester visited Mr. and Mrs. Howard Iden recently.

As if to prove peace is a dream, this happened: Just a few hours after Khrushchev said he'd back up, from Venezuela The Associated Press reported saboteurs, believed to be Castro followers, blew up enough power stations to knock out a sixth of the country's oil production.

A Havana radio signal instructing Venezuelan Communists to take action against the oil fields there was heard by U.S. and Venezuelan government sources. Radio Havana was reported calling openly for an insurrection in Honduras.

This, coming on the heels of Khrushchev's protest against any interference with the Cuban people, makes no sense unless it can be interpreted as Castro's way of showing that, even without Soviet missiles, he intends to be a menace.

From Miami The Associated Press reported Cuban exile leaders shrugged at Khrushchev's decision to withdraw the missiles and proceeded with their anti-Castro business.

Revolutionary Council President Jose Miro Cardona said: "The council is continuing its struggle for overthrow of the Communist dictatorship."

Khrushchev, if only to avoid the demoralizing effect on other Latin-American Communists that abandoning Castro would mean, will have to keep him in business with arms and supplies, if not missiles.

And the United States, which has kept alive the hope of Cuban refugees that they someday will be able to throw Castro out, can hardly change course on that.

Sooner or later, therefore, Castro should be involved actively or passively in new explosions, and all the withdrawal of the missiles may mean is that the United States won't be in danger of nuclear attack.

It's possible that Castro — sold down the river by Khrushchev on the missiles, at least, to avoid war with the United States—may be bounced by his own followers in Cuba. That looks like a long shot now.

Meanwhile, the Russians, who were expected to create a crisis over Berlin before year's end, are still in a position to do that.

Khrushchev so far as is known put no price tag on his agreement to take his missiles back home. That doesn't mean he won't spring one later. For instance, by again demanding that the United States remove its missiles from Turkey.

Kennedy wouldn't buy that one when Khrushchev proposed it Saturday as a swap for his taking his missiles out of Cuba. Then Khrushchev dropped the demand.

But the United States, in the eyes of the non-Allied world, can hardly claim more justification for having missiles in Turkey, right next to the Soviet Union than Khrushchev could for putting missiles in Cuba, 90 miles from America.

Since he withdrew his, to avoid a war, he may get a lot of non-Allied support around the world if, sooner or later, he demands that the United States return the compliment in Turkey.

It's hard to think Khrushchev put missiles in Cuba on impulse, assuming the United States would not detect them and that they later could be used to blackmail and blackmail this country in any showdown Khrushchev started.

In the first place, this would have had to be a high-policy decision in the Kremlin since it so deeply involved Soviet foreign policy. Second, the Russians know this country keeps Cuba under constant observation and would therefore discover the missiles.

It's possible Khrushchev thought that even if the missiles in Cuba were discovered, Kennedy would not have the nerve to force a showdown. This would have been a reckless gamble.

But looked at from any angle—in view of Khrushchev's backdown—the operation was stupid unless possibly Khrushchev had banked on something like this: That even if Kennedy forced a showdown, the President's fear of starting a war might have induced him to agree to a compromise with Khrushchev on something else Khrushchev wanted badly.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Don't Be Afraid to Question Doctor

The only thing that is worse than making a mistake is not to correct it. One mistake many people make is not to be absolutely sure they understand what the doctor tells them. This may lead to consequences that are amusing or it may be very serious. It all comes about because people are afraid to show their ignorance.

The truth is that everyone, including the doctor, is ignorant about something. One day many years ago at a big league baseball game, a batter hit the ball and someone seated near me said that it was a Texas leaguer.

I HAD NEVER HEARD this term before so I asked the man on my right what it meant. He gave me a withering look but since I was wearing my invisible armor, his look did not cut me to the quick. It merely glanced off. I turned to the man on my left and repeated the question. This warm-hearted man told me what a Texas leaguer was. In that way I overcame one small area of ignorance. Incidentally I found out later that my dictionary, which I make it a firm rule never to take with me to the ball park, gave a definition of Texas leaguer.

Now when your doctor says that he is going to prescribe some suppositories to be administered by insertion per anum at bedtime, the chances are that you will know exactly how to use them. But many a person who has been poorly instructed by his doctor has later complained that the suppositories were very hard to swallow whole and would it be all right to cut them up first.

IF THIS OR any other bit of medical advice for which you are paying has an unfamiliar ring or if you are not certain what it means, by all means stick your neck out and ask questions.

This will help to remind your doctor that terms which he knows may be new to you. This should make him a better doctor and you a healthier person.

A—The ingredients of frozen custard vary in different parts of the country but in general it contains more egg and less milk and milk fat than regular commercial ice cream.

Hays For Congress

Now serving his 14th year in Congress from Ohio's 18th District, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Flushing Democrat, will be seeking re-election Nov. 6 for his eighth two-year term.

He is opposed by John J. Carrigg, Steubenville Republican councilman who is chairman of the history department at the College of Steubenville.

Wayne Hays, without question, has been the district's most active legislator in Washington in many years and, because of his seniority and influence, is highly regarded by constituents in both parties. No "yes man," Hays frequently attracts national attention by speaking out bluntly against the administration's wasteful practices in foreign aid.

He has been active on the important foreign affairs committee, was a NATO delegate and has championed many needed projects in his home district, including Salem.

Rep. Hays has succeeded in keeping the Ohio River Improvement Program going, with 19 dams projected for the total length of the Ohio, two of the five completed being in the 18th District. He has helped 18 municipalities obtain federal grants for needed sewage plant improvements and he co-authored the depressed areas legislation which resulted in the establishment of several retraining schools. He also has been active in public works, housing and highway projects.

His was one of the first voices to cry out against Soviet arms shipments to Cuba. He was co-author of the resolution in Congress which called upon the administration to take any necessary action to prevent the military buildup in the Caribbean island from becoming a menace to the United States.

He has proven by his occasional attacks on the actions of fellow Democrats that he has the courage of his own convictions and is an able representative of his home district and taxpayers in general.

Both Rep. Hays and his opponent in the forthcoming election have similar backgrounds. Both are college graduates, both have taught history and both have held elective offices in their home towns, but Congressman Hays' extensive political experience and leadership in national affairs should be sufficient reason for re-election at this critical time in the nation's history.

City's Envious Water Situation

The city's acquisition of a potential 80-acre watershed several miles east of the Salem reservoir puts our community in the enviable position of having an almost endless supply of water for future industrial and domestic needs.

When the Utilities Commission announced Saturday it had purchased the important drainage area along Little Beaver Creek five miles south of Salem it marked another milestone in the city's continuing search for a more-than-adequate water supply.

Purchase of the tract from Mrs. Frances Eagleton will permit the city to expand its water drainage area from about nine square miles to 112 square miles, a sizable increase. Utilities Superintendent Aubrey Hayes, who can be credited with pushing the expansion, estimates that the water flow along the west fork of Little Beaver Creek in the Teegarden area is at least 25,000,000 gallons daily. And that's a lot of water, to say the least.

It was about 12 years ago that Salem was able to create the city lake along East Cold Run northeast of Guilford, providing us with a water supply that excelled in both quantity and quality. The occasional spectre of drought when the city once relied on artesian wells was eliminated.

Long-range planning has made these accomplishments possible; foresight by city officials and civic leaders who realized the importance of having a water supply that could answer the needs even 25 years from now.

The community owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Eagleton, who made the new site available, and to the utilities commission for its dedication. Every effort ought to be made, too, to carry out the wishes of the Eagleton family that the once popular Eagleton's Glen be restored as a natural park.

They Jumped In And Drove Away

The American Medical Association has blasted fat-headedness in dieting, which strikes us as the kind of thing it does better than looking for socialist spoils.

It says in its best professional manner that the anti-cholesterol food fad is a wasted, dangerous effort and it disposes peremptorily of the popular belief that animal fats are a prime cause of heart attacks.

This belief has given fits to elements of the food industry whose products were affected by the ominous warnings issued by advertisers of competing products. The medical profession itself never has been in strong agreement on this point and probably never can be for the simplest of all reasons.

It's impossible to pick out one substance and say it is the cause of coronary disease. That would be absurd oversimplification.

It isn't possible to pick out specific causes in anything as complex as what happens when a human being's heart goes sour. But significantly it is possible to pick out one thing that people don't do what is giving them more trouble than they need to endure.

People don't exercise their bodies. They fool with diets and pills but they avoid everyday activities such as ordinary walking that would keep them in trim. They wouldn't think of keeping a horse or a dog without giving it a chance to move about. But they see nothing wrong in keeping themselves penned up as if they were being fattened like beef steers, Strasburg geese and Thanksgiving turkeys.

Anyone want to bet the A.M.A. doctors who blasted the anti-cholesterol madness didn't jump in a car and drive away afterward, just like millions who wish they knew what to do to keep their arterial plumbing from getting clogged up from lack of circulation that in many cases comes from lack of plain ordinary exercise.

Into the Home Stretch

There's something new about the city's United Appeals campaign this year. The usual fanfare is missing, but that isn't to say that fund drive workers haven't been out trying to reach the $82,000 goal.

Team solicitors, their captains and General Chairman Paul E. Smith have been canvassing diligently on behalf of the 12 "red feather" agencies which depend on the Chest for financial support.

This week is the hardest part of the campaign because, as the drive heads into the home stretch, about $13,000 still remains to be raised. Have YOU done your part?

Hitting a Switch

Weeks ago I was talking to my friend from the telephone company about the new all-number "numbers."

I told him what he had been hearing from other people like me — that we had been having trouble. We mentioned articles we had read by people who felt the same way and he said yes, he knew about the articles and the telephone company wished people would understand its problem.

We told him how we tried to explain the problem to the lady we talk to on the telephone and she had laughed because we didn't sound convincing. Why, I asked my friend from the telephone company, didn't the company help its friends with an explanation that a child could understand.

We now have the information. A child can't understand all of it, not even a grown child.

No one can understand any of it unless he understands this:

When you stick a fingertip into a hole on a telephone dial and push, the result has nothing to do with numbers or letters. You're hitting a switch.

The problem of operating a telephone system is based on combinations that can be indicated on a dial. Some of us can remember when colors were used for this. You asked for 4-5-6 Black, or 3-6-9 Red.

Mathematicians have worked this out, relative to the operation of the telephone system, such as saving one place on the dial for getting hold of the operator. Their object is to find enough ways to spin a telephone dial to enable anyone to call anyone within answering distance of a telephone anywhere.

The only feasible way to do this is to designate combinations by numerals — bearing in mind the number of letters in the alphabet has no bearing on what happens when a telephone dial is spun. There are six letters — A, B, C, D, E, F, — on Holes No. 2 and 3. But regardless of this, there are only four ways the two holes can be used to activate a switch.

You can dial the same hole twice, you can dial a hole once then the next hole and you can do this in reverse. Thus, out of what looks like 30 combinations of letters there are actually only four operating combinations of motion.

Those of us untrained to think in these terms get lost, so concentrate on this fact:

With all-number "numbers" the telephone system can get 1,216,000,000 switching combinations. The method this is supplanting — names plus digits is limited to 820 million. This isn't enough to give telephone communication room to grow in, hence the changeover to all-number "numbers."

I have tried to clear this up because of my problem with telephones. I always have been blank on telephone numbers. Even when I have them written down, I not uncommonly transpose the dialing instructions. All-number "numbers" terrified me when I first encountered them, but I saw the light.

If they had the room they could draw pictures of animals on a telephone dial and tell me to dial aardvark, baboon, cat, dog, elephant, fox, giraffe. Or they could put in colors and tell me to dial red, green, yellow, orange, black, purple and magenta. But it works out a lot better with numerals because everybody knows numbers.

Any questions? If so, the telephone company does have the answers; I've learned that much.

Opposition to Ulbricht In Germany Is Still Existent

By RAWLE KNOX

BONN The reappearance in the East German press of the names of several old party political enemies of Walter Ulbricht, suggests that the opposition, within the "German Democratic Republic" is still alive and kicking.

Some observers in Bonn believe that it is being carefully kept active against the day when Ulbricht finally departs and a new, more liberal regime is introduced.

Now that Dr. Adenauer's time as chancellor of the West German Republic is presumably drawing to an end, these observers believe that Moscow is also preparing a change of leadership for East Germany. The argument is that the Communists opposed strength with strength, Ulbricht against Adenauer. A new West German regime, which might prove more conciliatory, would be met by a more attractive looking boss in East Germany.

ULBRICHT, is not of course, to everyone in East Germany the deomiac figure he is seen to be abroad. But politicians in Bonn cannot ever see him becoming a national leader like Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland, and most foreign observers tend to agree.

There is thought to be a distinct possibility that he may bow out at, or before, the East German Communist party conference next January, by which time he will presumably have handed to his grateful people a peace treaty with Russia.

The problems of liberalizing the East German regime are, however, infinitely greater than those in other Communist state. The artificial frontier divides hundreds of thousands of families, and East Germans are in daily contact, either by letter or by personal visit with conditions in the West.

The latest West German figures show that 13,000 people have left the East for the West since Aug. 13, 1961, despite the building of the wall, and that 52,000 more who happened to be abroad or in the Federal Republic when the wall was suddenly thrown up, decided not to return East.

There are indications, however, that East German intellectuals are dissatisfied with their position, vis a vis their colleagues in other Communist countries. There are complaints of lack of freedom of discussion. Ulbricht's problem is that if he lets the lid off it may blow through the roof of the house.

West Germany has its dilemma also. If the Bonn government were prepared to admit that the Soviet empire does in fact stretch up to the River Elbe, and that the Oder Neisse Line is the frontier of Poland, there is hardly any doubt, one gathers in conversation with East German officials, that there would be anti-immediate relaxation in East Germany. Bonn could, in fact, make it easier for fellow Germans on the other side of the barbed wire by an act of renunciation.

But all West German parties claim that "Middle Germany" the "Democratic Republic" and East Germany (Polish Pomerania and Silesia, and Russian and Polish East Prussia) must be reunited in the Fatherland. The Communists simply dub this aspiration as "Fascist" and "reactionist."

MANY FOREIGN observers doubt whether the popular demand for the reunification is as great as West German politicians say it is. It seemed, for instance, to be forgotten completely during Gen. de Gaulle's recent visit, when everyone was glowing warmly with the idea of a great Franco-German union, and conveniently omitted to mention how much of Germany would be in the union. Nevertheless, no politician is going to risk his neck at election time by accepting partition.

The beginning of a change of policy has been made with the decision in Bonn to open trade missions in Communist countries. It is not called here the end of the "Hallstein Doctrine" (no diplomatic recognition of any country recognizing East Germany, but it virtually is so. This step by the federal government was greeted by the official comment in Moscow that of course it would entail Bonn's recognition of the East German government.

The foreign ministry here accepted the sally as a typical Russian first reaction, and hoped for better things to come.

It would be too much for Moscow to expect a successor to Dr. Adenauer willing to make major concessions, but if the East German regime has been given a more acceptable face by then there is a chance for negotiations.

Longshoremen Favor Free Cuba

By VICTOR RIESEL

UNITED NATIONS There is a document to prove that Chairman Khrushchev has gone over the heads of our governmental leaders to reach into the United States in an attempt to crack open the now almost forgotten boycott of ships running on a military supplies to his Caribbean island satellite.

Victor Riesel: This waterfront blockade, launched by big Joe Curran, leader of the 25-year-old militant National Maritime Union, is aimed at choking off food and medicine as well as vital industrial equipment the Sino-Soviet bloc has been pouring into Cuba. Such a boycott by dockworkers and seamen could strangle the Cuban Soviet without a fight — if effective. And it has begun to pull the garrote tighter and tighter.

I have a copy of the document. It is a bitter, 3-page letter carefully written to Joe Curran by G. Sayenko, chairman, Central Committee, Sea and River Fleet Workers' Union of the USSR.

This communication, dripping with typical Communist threats and character smearing, has been followed by a Russian effort to consult with Curran. Their hope is to force the seamen's chief to back down. He won't. Nor will the American Longshoremen who are boycotting the ships of any company making a ruble out of Sino-Soviet-Cuban trade.

BIG JOE will handle the matter himself. What intrigued me in the communication is a Soviet charge that Curran's blockade which preceded President Kennedy's military action — has no workers' support.

"You actually have become," writes Sayenko, "an abettor of the imperialist circles that are obstructing the national emancipation of peoples and are aggravating the international situation so as to precipitate another disastrous world war."

"It's beyond my understanding how a trade union leader, whose duty is to protect the interests of the working class and to crusade for peace, could associate himself with reaction and call upon workers to support the forces of aggression and war. To be frank, that is a downright betrayal of the cause of the working class, a repudiation of the principle of internationalism and of international workers' solidarity."

"It is my belief," Mr. Curran, that your step... was made under the influence and pressure of certain reactionary circles and not on the insistence of your union's rank and file."

Okay. Let's be frank, Comrade Sayenko. Mr. Curran has the support of his rank-and-file — evidenced by scores of telegrams from crews at sea.

FURTHERMORE, there is the support of some 75,000 longshoremen. Their leaders spent many nights developing a 65-page list of 430 vessels from 22 nations carrying supplies to Cuba.

This was dispatched to scores of ports last weekend by the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL-CIO) with a covering alert which said:

"To all Members, Executive Council: Enclosed you will find a list of the ships that are doing business with the Cuban government. Of course, this is not a complete list of ships that are servicing Cuba or Russia, but as we get them we will send them on to you. In the meantime check on all cargo by means of your checkers, clerks, bills of lading, etc. . . ."

To be frank, Comrade Sayenko, tell your Chairman Khrushchev that millions of workers in the Western Hemisphere want stronger action against the Cuban Soviet.

President Kennedy has just heard from Arturo Jauregui, leader of some 27 million North, Central and South American workers from the Arctic to the Falkland Islands.

THE TELEGRAM sent by Sen. or Jauregui, general secretary of the Inter-American Organization of Workers (ORIT), offers support to President Kennedy's blockade operation and says:

"We are asking the governments of South and Central America and member governments of the U.N. to support the U.S. at this moment. . . . Castro's Cuba today is a direct threat to the development of free institutions in this hemisphere and is the single greatest block against the economic developments of the U.N. to support the Latin America.

"We call upon all friends of freedom in this hemisphere to give their uncompromising support in this effort to prevent Communist totalitarianism from spreading its tentacles around this hemisphere."

And from the Costa Rican Workers Confederation came a demand on the Organization of American States to use military action to oust the Castro Soviet regime.

And the National Union of Seamen and Port Workers of Panama urged President Chiari of Panama to close the country's ports to ships carrying material to Cuba.

These are but a few of the labor organizations which want action, blockades, anti-totalitarian operations to restore Cuba to the ranks of free nations.

You Communists always lose, Comrade Sayenko, when you get into a frank — and uncensored — discussion.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing in response to the young nurse who wrote to you from the delivery room of a hospital. The nurse expressed sorrow for the little unwed mothers who were having such a rough time.

For every little unwed mother walking around there is an unwed father. But nobody even lifts an eyebrow at THEM. They are free to wander at will with no stigma, no shame and no responsibility. They don't have to leave school, walk with bowed head or drop out of sight.

It is a biological impossibility for a girl to get into trouble alone. For this project she needs help.

Who are these punks whose sole concern is pleasure and self-gratification? Who are these unconscionable characters who make a game of sully some girl's maidenhood? Where does the blame lie?

The blame lies squarely on the shoulders of the parents who failed to teach their sons that a girl is not a plaything and that self-control is part of being manly and honorable. I hope you will put this letter in your own words and print it for millions to see.—PAST 70.

Dear Past 70: Your words are quite good enough, my friend. Only the Bible has said it better. "Raise up a child in how he should go and he will not depart from it."

Boss' Favorite

Dear Ann: We moved to this city five months ago. The move meant an important promotion for my husband. The city we now live in is the company's headquarters.

I am 28, attractive and the mother of three children. My husband and I never have had any serious troubles — until now. The top man in this organization has taken a liking to me. He is in his 40s, good looking, sophisticated and married.

This outfit has more social get-togethers than I've ever heard of. The boss always invites me to sit next to him and makes quite a fuss over me. Whenever there is music he dances my feet off. I try to be nice, but not TOO nice, if you know what I mean.

Last night after a social evening with the big shots, my husband blew his top. He told me he didn't need to have his wife play up to the boss to get ahead. He used stronger language than I can use here, but you get the idea. I feel terrible about this and I have no idea how to handle the problem. Can you help? — JUNIOR EXECUTIVE'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: This story is as old as the gray flannel suit. Since you realize your husband resents the attention the big boss is paying you, why not cut down the voltage on your responses? Be pleasant — but not TOO pleasant, if you know what I mean.

Etiquette Question

Dear Ann: I have a close friend who considers herself socially correct in everything. The other day I was at her home and, for the 50th time, she asked if I would like a cup of coffee? This habit of hers has always gripped me, so I decided to speak up.

I told her that a hostess isn't supposed to ASK a guest if she wants refreshments. She should

History Today

Today is Monday, Oct. 29, the 302nd day of 1962. There are 63 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1929, the Great Depression began when the New York stock market virtually collapsed. The financial losses which occurred made it the most disastrous day in the history of Wall Street.

On this date:

In 1835, the Morse alphabet code for telegraphy was patented.

In 1900, the first names chosen for New York University's Hall of Fame included George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Daniel Webster, Ulysses Grant, Benjamin Thomas Jefferson.

Today's birthdays:

Cartoonist Bill Mauldin is 41. Los Angeles Angels' manager Bill Rigney is 43.

Thought for today:

go ahead and serve something. This friend informed me some people don't want refreshments and it makes no sense to go ahead without asking first.

Who is right? — WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: When a hostess asks a guest if he would like refreshments she puts the burden on the guest, which is impolite. Some guests would enjoy refreshments but they hesitate to say so because they don't wish to put the hostess to the trouble. The gracious hostess has refreshments prepared and she serves them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fully convinced that God is able to do what he had promised. Romans 4: 21.

In all God's providences, it is good to compare His word and His works together; for we shall find a beautiful harmony between them, and that they mutually illustrate each other. — Matthew Henry.

Matter of Fact

Wonder whether the increase in average use of electrical energy by residential customers during 1961 was due to the use of more electric can openers? Last year 187 kilowatt-hours more were used, bringing the average residential consumption to 4,012 Kilowatt-hours per year.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans, often denounced abroad as dollar mad, remain the world's most cheerful givers. Private philanthropy by individuals and foundations last year reached a record $8.7 billion of which $4.4 billion was donated to churches.

These Are the Issues!

☒ A Program for NEW JOBS and INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT in Ohio!

● Ohio has dropped to 13th place in rate of growth in non-agricultural employment among the nation's 15 largest industrial States since 1958! Action is needed immediately to bolster Ohio's economy and regain the more than 200,000 lost jobs. There is an urgent need for my NEW JOBS AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY, a program that will attract new industries to Ohio, aid expansion of home industries and provide work for thousands of jobless... a bold plan-of-action endorsed by the labor communities, industrial development experts, industrial leaders and local government officials... a program that will bring prosperity into all areas of Ohio at NO COST to Ohio taxpayers!

☒ A Program to EXPAND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES in Ohio!

● HIGHER EDUCATION — We must begin preparations now for an increase of many, many thousands of students who will want to enroll in our State universities in 1970. I recommend that the continuously accumulating surplus in the capital funds program (originated by the Republican General Assembly of 1955 and approved by Ohio voters that same year) be specifically earmarked for capital expansion of our State-supported universities. This recommendation will do the job at NO INCREASE in taxes!

● SECONDARY EDUCATION — I recommend that (1) Local and State governments provide equal operational support of public schools, offering relief to local real and personal property owners; (2) Minimum teacher salaries be raised to $4,500 and legislation permitting borrowing of State Teacher Retirement Fund monies be repealed; (3) Appropriations be sufficient for needed classrooms in districts unable to provide them; (4) Appropriations be sufficient to support joint vocational school efforts by two or more districts; (5) Support of technical schools beyond high school.

☒ A Program to ESTABLISH GOLDEN AGE VILLAGES in Ohio!

● There are 11,000 elderly people in Ohio's mental hospitals who have recovered from temporary psychotic conditions due to advancing years and who could leave tomorrow. Their removal to more appropriate facilities would release them from an unhappy environment and restore their civil rights. It would relieve Ohio's mental hospitals of a serious overcrowding and permit hospital staffs to concentrate on the treatment of the mentally ill. To achieve these objectives, I propose that Ohio establish a self-financing program of Golden Age Villages to house these elderly people... at NO COST to Ohio taxpayers!

☒ A Program for a YOUTH COMMISSION in Ohio!

● Because Ohio does not have an adequate program in force today to cope with its youth problems, I propose the establishment, through legislative action, of an Ohio Youth Commission as a separate and independent agency of the government. This commission would assume full responsibility for present State activities in the field of prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency, and establish and maintain close liaison with Ohio's Juvenile Courts. This modern, up-to-date YOUTH COMMISSION program can be put into effect in Ohio at NO ADDITIONAL COST!

☒ A Program for RECREATION and RESOURCES in Ohio!

● Because of Ohio's population density, it is imperative that Ohio provide enough State park lands to meet the skyrocketing recreational needs. Therefore, I propose the creation of a Recreation and Resources Authority. This Authority would give Ohio's talented professionals in this field a more modern tool with which to work in developing better facilities for fishing, hunting, boating, swimming and camping programs. This authority would also acquire public lands for water impoundment and a further expansion of parks and recreational facilities.

☒ A Program for SOUND MANAGEMENT of Ohio's Finances!

● When voters select their Governor, they select management! The Governor is charged with presenting specific programs and budgets for State operation to the General Assembly for action. Sound, prudent management of income is necessary. I propose to trim bureaucratic fat from the budget and to eliminate all unnecessary and extravagant expenditures so that more money will be made available for more essential fields, such as education!

☒ A Program for a RESEARCH EXTENSION SERVICE in Ohio!

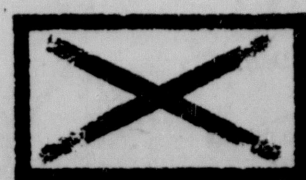

● I propose a Research Extension Service that will act as liaison between Ohio's Research Centers and Ohio Manufacturers. Too many of the end products, developed through Ohio's Research Facilities, have gone to other States for manufacturing. This loss of industry by Ohio in not manufacturing products created by Ohio research must not continue, simply because there is a lack of information or effort, such as that demonstrated by the present administration. A Research Extension Service would avert this industrial loss!

A Program for WELFARE in Ohio!

● A well-organized, coordinated program which could effect substantial savings and thus make possible a higher and more appropriate standard of benefits to recipients. We must take the welfare program out of politics.

use it often enough, it starts smelling!

Then, a few years ago, I found out that the puffs won't smell if you carry them in waxed paper sandwich bags. The great thing about this is that the dampness does not come through the lining into your purse, but yet the sadwink bag lets just enough of the moisture escape so that the puff doesn't smell. However, they say men are wonderful . . . and some days I just cannot believe it—especially when it concerns me and mine. (Catch that?)

But it took a man to show me this. When he saw me take my foam rubber powder puff from my worn, crumpled sandwich bag one day, he said, "Why don't you wrap it in a piece of foil?" Immediately he returned with a piece of foil, just a little larger than the powder puff itself.

I found that after I apply my cake makeup, all I have to do is to take the damp sponge, fold it in half, or roll it in the foil. Personally, I like to roll the sponge up and then put it in the foil because it stays damp longer. It doesn't take up as much room in my purse.

Gals, for all of you who use cake makeup, skip into that kitchen, unroll that piece of foil, and lay it on your makeup table. In the morning when you do your face—this is especially for working girls—roll your sponge-type puff and put it in your little piece of foil and twist both ends. You will find that this will last at least forty-eight hours. You will have no mess in your purse. It is easily seen for quick make-up jobs. But, best of all, it never has an odor.

Mrs. Sayles

DEAR HELOISE: To remove stubborn rust spots from white tablecloths, use Oxalic acid. This can be purchased at any drugstore.

Wet the rust spot and pour about one spoonful of crystals on it and then dip up and down in hot water a few seconds and watch the rust disappear. Rinse thoroughly.

HELEN CARLSON

My books show that this is one way the government tells us to remove rust. However, it states that it should not be used on nylon. Test the fabric first. Be careful to follow directions, as this acid is poison if swallowed.

DEAR HELOISE: Cut up wieners for the little ones by slicing them lengthwise first. Then hold the two pieces together and slice crosswise . . . in bite sizes. Sounds silly, but it saves a lot of time.

MARIAN REYNARD

DEAR HELOISE: Here is our answer to some refrigerator odors which seem impossible to remove, especially those which are caused by leaky plastic milk cartons that have been placed in the door.

We took the entire storage space off the inside of the door (just loosen a few screws and it comes out). The insulation in the door was saturated up about eight inches. We bought a new pad of insulation and inserted it and our troubles are over. Possibly the same thing has happened with other refrigerators which have odors. GERTRUDE BUHEMASTER

Double Lock Foils Barber Shop Entry

Richard Gidley reported to Salem police this morning that some time over the weekend someone tried to break into the Gidley Barber Shop at 115 N. Ellsworth Ave.

Moulding around the shop's front door was pried loose and a lock opened. However, the door was double locked and so entrance was not gained.

Applicants Sought For Children's Home

LISBON — Applications are still being accepted for the posts of superintendent and matron at the Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

Several applications have been received and are being studied.

The children's home was closed Jan. 1 by the county commissioners who said it was too costly to operate. Following their decision to reopen the home, they set up one Civil Service examination, but those taking the test were not certified and the home has remained closed.

RED CROSS ON DUTY

CITY'S WATER SUPPLY INCREASED — Most of Salem city's newly acquired 79.25 acres of land along Little Beaver Creek, about five miles south of the city, is shown to the right (the lined area) in this map. An artesian well is located near the creek's middle fork, near the upper right corner of the map. It is expected that a pumping station will eventually be established at Little Beaver, and that a line will connect to Salem City Lake, a distance of 4,200 feet. Cold Run, not included in the map, is off to the West, about one half mile from the upper lake area. According to Utilities Su- perintendent Aubrey Hayes acquisition of the 79.25 acres last Friday afternoon makes the city's future water supply "virtually limitless." Salem purchased the land from Mrs. Frances Eagleton of 610 E. 3rd St. for $4,500.

Cuba

terceptions by the U.S. block- aders.

Washington authorities said they did not know at the moment whether the building of Soviet missile sites in Cuba—reported proceeding at a rapid pace Satur- day—had stopped. They figured speedily dispatch of a U.N. team to Cuba would help check that.

Removal of the rockets and jet bombers which the Soviet Union has been shipping to Cuba is the prime U.S. goal.

Khrushchev agreed to de-fuse the missile bases in a letter to Kennedy made public Sunday morning in Moscow. The Soviet leader said "the interests of peace" guided his decision.

Obviously eager to match his adversary's conciliatory tone, Kennedy issued a public state- ment praising Khrushchev's de- cision as statesmanlike and as "an important and constructive con- tribution to peace." In a quick reply to the premier, Kennedy said Khrushchev had made pos- sible "a step back from danger."

End of Week of Tension

This historic exchange climaxed a week of nerve-jangling events.

Kennedy stuck to his main point —the nuclear missile buildup in Cuba would have to be removed before there could be "sensible negotiation" on a peaceful settle- ment of the crisis.

On the military front, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced that more than 14,000 Air Force reservists, mostly in units used to airlift troops for combat, would be called to active duty.

McNamara's announcement Sat- urday night followed a Pentagon report that an unarmed U.S. re- connaissance plane was missing as a result of Cuban antiaircraft fire. The pilot was identified as Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr., 35, of Greenville, S.C.

The tension-filled week was cli- maxed with Khrushchev's latest letter, meeting the basic U.S. de- mand and suggesting United Na- tions supervision. The Soviet leader also proposed discussions on arms reductions, including arma- ments of the rival North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Com- munist Warsaw Pact group, and talks on easing other cold war tensions. He omitted any mention of a deal involving U.S. Bases in Turkey.

About the only controversial note was a charge that a U.S. reconnaissance plane had violated Soviet air space in Asia Sunday.

Kennedy acknowledged the straying of the plane, but said it was due to a serious navigational error. "I regret this incident and will see to it that every precau- tion is taken to prevent recur- rence," the President told Khrushchev.

Pending solid evidence that the missile bases will be torn down, the aerial surveillance of Cuba continued.

Authorities here do not regard a Cuban settlement as foreshad- owing any letup in Red pressures elsewhere. They still expect, for instance, that Moscow may heat up the Berlin issue to crisis pro- portions over the next few months.

Castro issued a five-point series of demands Sunday including U.S. withdrawal from the big Ameri- can naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

Funeral Tuesday At Alliance For Jack Mainwaring

ALLIANCE — Services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Cassaday & Turkle Funeral Home for Jack Allen Mainwaring, Alli- ance fire department lieutenant who was killed when an aerial bomb exploded prematurely at the Mount Union-Hiram football game Saturday afternoon.

LT. Mainwaring, who was a brother of Mayor David Mainwaring, had just lit the fuse for the ex- plosive following Mount Union's final touchdown of the game and was walking back to his seat when the missile exploded. The charge hit him in the back.

He had been a member of the Alliance fire department since 1948. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and the American Legion.

hold, the next stand for the be- leaguered Indians probably would be at Bomdila, last important pass on the way to the Assam Plains.

A fair road connects Bomdila with the plains, enabling the In- dian army to bring up light tanks and overcome a supply weakness partly responsible for some of the steady reverses of the nine-day- old border war.

Hard fighting also was indicated on the Ladakh front, some 850 miles westward along the jagged Himalayan frontier. The Indians said one post was lost there when the Chinese opened an attack around Demchok in overwhelming numbers with rapid-firing weap- ons.

The battleground there is nearly three miles high. Demchok is close to the undefined border of Kashmir, and the attack consti- tutes the farthest southward Chi- nese thrust in the western sector.

In Cleveland, DiSalle said Sun- day night he was worried about reports of a "steady stream" of Rhodes' employes going in and out of the auditor's office Sunday.

"I have no idea what they were all doing there," the governor said, "but first thing tomorrow we're going to put our own people at that office."

mation that Soviet missile bases in Cuba were being dismantled as pledged by Khrushchev.

The source said the United States expected prompt action from the United Nations. Earlier, an informed diplomat reported that Stevenson told a meeting of Allied delegates Saturday the United States would bomb the missile bases unless their con- struction stopped soon and their dismantling was guaranteed.

His death marks the 26th traf- fic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared with 15 at the same time in 1961.

With The Patients

The condition of Stella Kuegle, 81, of 5 N. Main St., Columbiana, who was admitted to Salem City Hospital at 5:45 p.m. Sunday for treatment of multiple contusions and abrasions suffered in a high- way accident, was reported as fairly good today by hospital au- thorities.

Heavy Winds Reduce Activity At 2nd Annual Air Show

Heavy winds up to 30 knots per hour reduced activity at the sec- ond annual free air show Sunday at Salem Air Park.

In spite of the weather, more than 1,500 spectators were pres- ent to view the event.

A tri-motor plane from Port Clinton, known as the "Tin Goose," had no trouble navigat- ing in the wind and parachute jumpers from the Alliance Sport Parachute Club performed.

Antique aircraft and some planes from the 83rd Aviation company of Akron Airport were un- able to appear.

The show was co-sponsored by Salem Air Park, Inc., and Salem Squadron 1302 of the Civil Air Patrol, with 1st Lt. R. D. Linn in charge. The groups were assisted by members of the Girl Cadets from the Alliance Squadron under the direction of Major O. K. Brown.

Funds received from the event will be directed toward classes on aero-space education for cadets.

Youngsters from 14 to 18 years are invited to join the group and may obtain further information by calling the Air Patrol at its headquarters, the Salem Armory on S. Lincoln Ave., after 7 p.m. any Wednesday.

Tentative plans for next year's air show are being made. The event will take place sometime shortly after Labor Day.

2 Dead; Six Hurt In Crash Near Ravenna

RAVENNA — A father and his 18-month-old son were killed and six persons were injured in a two-car accident on U.S. 224 near here Sunday.

Dead are Michael Sopkovich Sr. and his son James, both of 3867 Timberline Road, Youngstown.

Michael Sopkovich Jr., 4, is listed in critical condition at Raven- na Memorial Hospital. His moth- er, Mary Elizabeth, 28, and a sister, Merri Lynn, 8 months, are in satisfactory condition.

Firmen Extinguish Blaze In Rice Home

The Salem city fire department was called to the home of James D. Rice Jr. of MC 1, Salem, at 9:42 a.m. today to extinguish a fire believed to have been caused by a short in the furnace wiring.

Fire Chief E. M. Bush reported fire damage in the basement of the house and smoke damage in the main part of the one - story dwelling.

The fire department was also called to put out a fire in the upholstery of an automobile parked at the rear of 139 N. Ells- worth Ave. at 5:05 a.m. Sunday.

Sabotage

One of the suspects was so badly burned he was blinded.

A Creole spokesman said the entire Tijuana oil field in the lake was rendered inoperable. He es- timated it would take about a month to get the field back to its daily production of 525,000 barrels. Other sources said it might take as long as three months.

Informants said the government faces a serious loss of foreign ex- change earned from oil royalties, Venezuela's main source of wealth. Venezuela collects about 70 per cent of the $1.2 million daily revenue from the county's oil production, the third largest in the world.

The government rushed a marine battalion to Lake Maracaibo to reinforce guards on the oil installations. Betancourt and his Cabinet met in emergency session to plan stricter security meas- ures.

Color Doesn't Always Improve TV Programs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Color television, to which NBC almost alone is dedicated, doesn't always add much to one's enjoyment or appreciation of a program.

Baseball and football games are not particularly improved, although the viewer gets a chance to speculate on the condition of the grass in the playing fields. NBC's "Teahouse of the August Moon," on Friday night, was a very special treat for those of us lucky enough to see it on a color set. It was very beautiful.

The Oriental settings and costumes were as delicately blended as a rare tea and just as refreshing. But the pleasant little comedy itself, written about American occupation of Okinawa after World War II, was no more than a pleasant, relaxing 90 minutes.

The story concerns a nice young captain, played by John Forsythe, assigned to put a small village back on its economic feet. Aided by a native interpreter — David Wayne in a madelous makeup — and a geisha (Miyoshi Umeki) presented to him by a friendly villager, Forsythe does the job. The plot revolves around the desire of the townfolk to build a tea-house rather than the school the Americans insist the town needs.

As a hit Broadway play nine years ago, it was a leisure production largely because there was plenty of time to develop the characters. But in order to accommodate the tyrannical cock of television, a full-length play had to be chopped down to a little more than an hour—that 90 minutes is misleading because it includes commercials, station breaks, opening and closing credits.

What got chopped, obviously, were the characterizations. We didn't get to know the principals well enough to care really what happened to them. But it sure was handsome to look at.

Handsome, but in a different way, was "The River Nile," down which we, courtesy of NBC again, traveled Sunday night. It was a travelogue, of course, but it was filmed in glowing color, given a narration that often read like poetry and was accompanied by a sensitive and sometimes witty musical score.

The journey started at the very source, in mountains of black Africa where the mighty river is a clear little stream, and ended 4,000 miles later in Alexandria where the river meets the sea. At every point along the way, the descriptions of flora and fauna were beautiful and interesting. Just two programs like those make color worthwhile.

Browns Back In Title Race, Whip Steelers 41-14

Ninowski Is Hurt, Ryan Hurls 2 TDs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns was looking today for a quarterback to replace injured Jim Ninowski and, with esedve quarterback Frank Ryan, help the Browns maintain their full head of steam.

OSU Jumps Back Into Big 10 Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's baffling Buckeyes, up and down like a yo-yo this fall, are back on the fringe of the fight for the Big Ten title.

The Bucks belted the Badgers of Wisconsin 14-7 Saturday before a crowd of 82,540.

The conquest ended a seven-Wisconsin winning streak; halted at eight the pass-touchdown skein of Badger end Pat Richter; kept intact the Buck trend of not losing to Wisconsin here since 1918, and pushed the Bucks into a 2-1 tie with Wisconsin and Minnesota for fourth place in the league.

Coach Woody Hayes, after each team had scored on a sensational pass play in the first half, threw away his overhead offense and stayed on the ground to score the clincher mid-way in the final quarter.

Quarterback Joe Sparma's 21-yard pass to Paul Warfield put the twice-beaten Bucks ahead in the first period. Using a no-count attack, and no huddle, the Badgers surprised the Bucks in the second period to tie it.

In the fourth period, the Bucks, aided by a 15-yard personal foul penalty, rolled 58 yards in eight rushing plays with quarterback John Mummey going a yard for the telling tally.

While the Bucks and Badgers were battling, other Ohio colleges were putting on quite a show.

In the big one at Oxford, Redskins held Bowling Green's defending Mid-American Conference champions to a 24-24 deadlock. The title still rests, however, on the outcome of the Nov. 10 tilt between the Bee-Gees and Ohio University. The Bobcats rolled to their sixth straight, 41-6, over Buffalo in a non-league affair.

Wilmington ended a 22-game losing streak by defeating Defiance 16-0, but the game doesn't count in the Mid-Ohio loop standings. Earlier Defiance defeated Wilmington 14-8, and that one goes into the ratings.

Dayton's Flyers, after menacing some of the Midwest's best in five futile outings, broke into the win column Friday, 13-12 over Detroit. Mount Union, a 24-14 winner over Hiram, also came up with its first conquest of the year — and now only Case Tech and Marietta haven't cracked the victory column.

Akron and Wittenberg, racing toward a Nov. 10 showdown for the Ohio Conference Crown, were easy winners. The Zips won 46-12 over Capital, and Wittenberg nipped Ohio Wesleyan 37-6 — the Bishops getting only the second touchdown allowed by the Lutherans this season.

victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers. Ryan, who stepped in at quarterback after Ninowski suffered a dislocated left shoulder and fractured clavicle early in the second quarter, shook off initial jitters and completed 11 of 18 passes for 144 yards and two touchdowns.

The Browns' defense did an effective job of rushing Steelers' quarterback, Bobby Layne, who was benched after a first half in which he hit on only five of 16 passes.

Jim Brown looked more like the Cleveland fullback of old, picking up 93 yards on 21 carries. He caught four passes for 35 yards, caught four passes for 35 yards. One was a 15-yard fling for a touchdown. Brown also scored on a one-yard plunge.

"The whole team played hard," said coach Brown after the game. "If Jim hadn't been hurt we really could be happy. It was a costly afternoon in that regard."

"You never know, though. Now we'll find out for sure about Fran Frank."

He's capable and you know he's a smart young man."

The coach said he didn't have anyone in particular in mind for quarterback insurance. Ninowski will be sidelined indefinitely, maybe for the rest of the season.

It was reported the Browns have their eye on John Furman, rookie southpaw who tried out with Cleveland and was sent to Minnesota. He didn't make the Vikings but is being kept there as an extra player.

Several other teams have third quarterbacks who might be available through waivers.

The coach had special praise for defensive end Bill Glass, obtained from Detroit along with Ninowski in the Milt Plum deal.

"Bill was quite a man out there today," Brown observed. "When people talk of that trade with the Lions they seem to forget about him."

The Browns improved their record to 4-3 and climbed into third place in the Eastern Conference — 1½ games behind Washington and a game behind the New York Giants.

Tittle Tosses 7 TD Passes As Giants Rip Washington

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Y. A. Tittle, a pin-point passer extraordinary, sent the title chances of the New York Giants soaring in the Eastern Division of the National Football League after a record-equaling head-shaking performance that punctured the Washington Redskins' bubble.

Former Purdue, Alliance Star Hurls 3 TDs

Dawson's Passing Paces Dallas Win

Len Dawson, a priceless piece of property who found himself a no-cash-down commodity after five years on the pro football market, has come full circle since leaving the unemployment office for a job with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League.

Dubbed "pro football's next great quarterback" when he entered the pro ranks, Dawson gathered experience and splinters in five years in the NFL, but has turned into Big D at Dallas. His passing Sunday carried the Texans to the top in the Western Division as they rode over Houston 31-7.

The former Purdue star, dubbed by Bobby Layne with the "next great" label, watched his price tag dwindle in five years of spear carrying for Layne at Pittsburgh and Milt Plum at Cleveland. Dawson says he didn't flunk the NFL test—he never took it.

"All the games I ever played in already were won or lost when I finally got off the bench," says Dawson.

Dawson passed for three touchdowns as the Texans knocked defending league champion Houston from a first-place tie with Boston in the East. The Patriots, who whipped Oakland 26-16 Friday, are 5-2 to the Oilers' 4-3.

The Texans are 6-1 in the West, a half-game in front of Denver (6-2), upended by Buffalo Sunday 45-38 on the long-range bombs of Warren Rabb. In the league's other game, New York's Titans belted San Diego's Western Division defenders 23-3.

Abner Haynes got the first Texans' touchdown on a 1-yard plunge before Dawson took over. He pitched a 49-yarder to Chris Burford and followed with a 39-yarder to the same target, pulling Dallas out front 21-0.

Dawson, at 27 the Texans' senior citizen and the only NFL reject on the squad, wound up the day with a 5-yard TD flip to Fred Arbanas. He completed 12 of 16 passes for 177 yards.

Quakers Play At East Liverpool Next

Salem Reserves Blank Boardman

The Salem Reserve football team continued to make the future look bright as the Quakers' Junior Varsity posted its third straight shutout 12-0 over Boardman at Reilly Stadium last Saturday.

Coach Bob Martin's aggregation ends its season at East Liverpool Saturday at 7 p.m.

Salem has lost only to Minerva 6-0, while chalking up six victories. The Quakers have a four-game winning streak going.

George Begalla intercepted a Boardman pass in the second quarter and returned the aerial 30 yards for a touchdown to give Salem a 6-0 margin at intermission.

End Mike Joseph caught a 35-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Larry Earley in the third session for the Quakers' final six points.

Salem did a tremendous job defensively, limiting most of the Spartans' offensive attack to little or no gains throughout most of the contest.

The two previous Quaker shutouts were over West Branch 46-0 and Wellsville 52-0. Salem opened the season with a 32-0 victory over Leetonia.

Johnson Leads Bobcats to 14-8 Win

Greenford Rallies To Dump Atwater

Phil Johnson scored twice in the first half to give the host Greenford Bobcats a 14-8 victory Saturday over Atwater in a homecoming game marred by fumbles.

Greenford broke into the scoring column first in the initial period on a 60-yard run by Johnson. Quarterback Wayne Pagani failed in his attempt for the extra points.

Dave Savage crossed the goal line on a three-yard run in the same quarter and Bob Knight tallied the extra points on a run to put the visitors out in front at the end of the first quarter, 8-6.

But Greenford rallied in the second period as Johnson went over from the one, and Tim Davis ran for the conversion to give the Bobcats the winning margin.

In the second half, both teams were on their way to touchdowns several times, but fumbled the cold pigskin on each occasion to keep the win intact for Coach Al Carrino's Bobcats who now have a 5-3 season record.

Senior Nancy Miller was crowned homecoming queen during halftime ceremonies. Her attendants were Ginger McCartney, freshman, Jill Bowman, sophomore, Pat Robinette, junior, and Sheri Kniseley, senior.

Next week the Bobcats will travel to Crestview whose record is 5-3.

West Branch Snaps Losing Streak 28-6

West Branch snapped a three-game losing streak with a mild 28-6 upset over Beaver Local at Salem Reilly Saturday night.

The Beavers dropped their third straight after posting five victories in a row at the start of the campaign. The Warriors, having one of their lean years, are 3-5.

Coach Ron Dierks' squad never trailed, although it held only an 8-6 margin at intermission.

The Warriors scored their initial TD when Benner recovered his own fumble in the Beaver Local end zone. Yeagley caught a pass from Barber for the two-point conversion that put West Branch ahead to stay.

Benner also chalked up two other touchdowns on runs of 15 and five yards. Quarterback Barber dashed 15 yards for the Warriors' second TD.

Gaydos plunged two yards for Beaver Local's only six points.

West Branch picked up 10 first downs and 161 yards rushing, compared to nine first downs and 166 yards on the ground for Beaver Local. The Warriors gained 30 yards through the air and the Beavers made 24 yards passing.

Rebels Win 5th Straight 24-14

Blue Devils Finish Year With 2-6 Mark

Taylor scored twice for the winners on runs of one and 20 yards. Klyne scored on a five-yard smash and Sahli plunged two yards for a touchdown for Western Reserve.

The Blue Devils suffered their sixth defeat in eight starts. It was the final game of the campaign for Western Reserve.

There's More to Today's Window Than Meets the Eye

Dry air is as necessary to proper functioning of some modern windows as is glass itself. While the best windows made for homes today might seem to consist only of glass and wood, they incorporate many specialized components selected by engineers so that the windows will operate properly for the life of the house. The dry air is found between the panes of insulating glass, which consists of two sheets of glass sealed together at the edges. The air inside is dehydrated to prevent condensation.

For Long Wear

Nylon bearings, vinyl gaskets, "non-galling" gears, water-repellent and preservative chemicals, and anodized weather-stripping are among the other refinements that make a significant difference between good windows and cheap ones—even though the two might look much the same.

Operating hardware—for instance sliding hinges with nylon bearings that fit into stainless steel tracks—is designed to work smoothly and eliminate any possibility that the sash might sag or rattle in the wind. Locks are made not only for security but to draw the sections of a window tightly together to seal out cold air.

Gears Don't "Gall"

When gears are used, as in the crank that operates a casement window, one gear may be made of metal, the other of plastic. This prevents the binding, or galling, action of metal-to-metal contact.

All ponderosa pine window units are weatherstripped with specially anodized aluminum, stainless steel, or vinyl gaskets. Anodizing is necessary to keep aluminum from corroding and pitting. Water-repellent, preservative treatment makes wood highly resistant to the effects of weather, forestalling warping, swelling, and shrinking.

Factory-Assembled

With old-fashioned house construction methods, window sash and frame, were assembled at the site. The best modern technique calls for stock ponderosa pine window "units." A unit is completely constructed in a mill-work factory. Sash, frame, hardware, weatherstripping, balancing devices and all other parts are designed to work together.

COMPACT, L-SHAPE RANCH contains 1,559 square feet of living space and has 61 foot by 41 foot 3 inch dimensions. The large living room has sliding glass doors to the rear terrace. The dining room, higher than the living room, is further separated from it with a wrought iron railing. The foyer is floored with slate or flagstone for interest. It is on the same level as the living room. The family room adjoins the kitchen and has a separate entrance from the hallway; it also is conveniently located to the main bath. Homes for Americans Plan HA261Y was designed by Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Plan To Finish Room? Many Wall Materials Are Available

The decision to finish an attic, basement or any extra room in a house always brings with it a second decision—the kind of wall material that should be used.

If it's to be a do-it-yourself project, the selection is made from among the various types of wood paneling, plywood, hardboard, plastic and the seemingly endless variety of other dry wall products. Professional help is required for a lath-and-plaster job.

PRICE AND PERSONAL preference are the two most important factors affecting the selection of the wall material. One of the least expensive is gypsum board, a plaster-like substance covered with specially treated paper.

The more common varieties must be painted or papered after the joints have been filled with tape and cement. These chores can be eliminated by purchasing finished gypsum board with decorative joints that do not require treatment, but this type necessarily costs more.

Regular wood paneling continues to be popular, despite the inroads made by some of the newer materials. Many persons feel that nothing exudes warmth like wood panels, but even this group is divided in its loyalty. Some can't see anything except mahogany, walnut or one of the hardwoods. Others feel that the softwoods, such as pine, make the ideal paneling.

HARDBOARD GETS THE nod from those looking for a smooth-surfaced wall that resists dents and other bruises. For those who want a plastic finish, but do not wish to tackle the job of bonding laminates to wood, there is a type of hardboard to which the plastic already is attached.

Fiber or insulating board is economical and can be purchased plain or with various kinds of decorative finishes. Where a waterproof, fireproof material is desired, asbestos cement board is excellent.

A newcomer in the dry wall field is a vinyl-covered plank which can be applied right over an existing wall. It is made of hardwood veneers laminated to a core of polystyrene foam. There is a thin coat of vinyl plastic over the veneer.

THE LATH-AND-PLASTER industry feels it has a product competitive with dry wall material—a plaster veneer. It says that a wall or ceiling job can be done in one day and painted the next.

Interestingly, while the industry's national association says the plaster veneer is "superior to all other so-called quick interior finishes," it very carefully adds: "where quality is demanded, there is no substitute for genuine lath and plaster."

in strong winds or crushing under heavy snow.

IMMEDIATELY after the first freezing frost stops growth and sends roots and canes into a dormant state, follow this simple and really very easy routine advised by All-America Rose Selections:

1. Clean up around the plant, removing all fallen leaves. Spray the entire plant and soil surrounding it. This will prevent any disease from holding over through the winter and harming the bush in spring.
2. Cut back the canes on hybrid teas, grandifloras and floribundas to at least 18 to 24 inches, removing all dead wood. Longer canes will whip in the wind, become heavily laden with snow, or loosen the protective mound, all of which lead to damage.
3. Hill-up the soil around the canes to a height of 8 to 10 inches using earth from between bushes or taken from another area of the garden. It will be wise to give this soil a protective spray, too. If your winters are severe, with temperatures around zero or below, added protection can be given your roses by covering the mounded bushes with evergreen boughs, straw, or any material that does not retain moisture. Avoid leaves and grass.

THE LEISURE months of winter are the perfect time to plan those new landscape ideas with the adaptable and versatile rose that will become a reality next spring. To help you plan, there are many catalogs available, for the asking. They will be mailed free by the mail-order specialists in roses. In the pages of these books—spring editions are published in December and January—you'll find vivid, full-color illustrations of all the new and popular roses that are readily available to add new life, interest and appeal to your home scene.

"Fireside gardening" is enjoyable and profitable. The returns will be visible and tangible next spring blooming season when your bushes dress up your garden and home with the unrivaled color and charm of the rose.

Mound of Protection Worth Bushel of Roses Next Spring

With winter approaching, the wisest advice a rose enthusiast in the cold northern half of the nation can take is: a mound of protection will be worth a bushel of glorious blooms next spring.

Simple protective practices will assure you that, come next spring your bushes will reward you with all the eye-catching color and classic beauty for which the incomparable rose is cherished.

Winter safeguards, according to All-America Rose Selections, the group that annually bestows the famous AARS award to outstanding new roses, are required of temperatures in your area reach down to the 15-degree mark. The protection assists the plants in wintering successfully by providing insulation against alternate stages of freezing and thawing, and guards against cane damage

Here's the Answer
QUESTION: I have a number of projects on tap and have decided to use plywood. In looking over lumber yard advertisements, I sometimes see the term "lumber core." Can you tell me if and how this differs from regular plywood?
ANSWER: In what you call regular plywood, there are a number of layers or plies of veneer. Each piece of plywood has an odd number of plies, such as three, five, etc. The plies are at right angles to each other, which produces that irregular striped effect you see along the edges. While these exposed edges often are left as is, most persons prefer to cover them with some kind of edging.
Lumber-core plywood has two strips of veneer on either side of a heavy core of sawn lumber, kind of like a sandwich. It usually is used for furniture and cabinet-making and quite often for doors. In the latter case, it is easier to attach hinges to the lumber core of the plywood than it would be to attach them to veneer-core plywood.

General Was Convinced That U. S. Should Pick Place For Showdown

Cuba Tests Tay lor's Key Cold War Theory

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Cuban blockade is the first test of a key cold war theory of Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who became chairman of the joint chiefs of staff and the nation's top military man on Oct. 1.

This is the theory as Pentagon officials phrase it:

1. If Khrushchev's salami-like slicing away of the free world is to be stopped, there must be a showdown. If there's going to be a showdown, let's have it at a place and time of our choosing, not Khrushchev's. Let's have it where we have the advantages—the superiority of arms and men, the short lines of supply. Let's have it where there's the least danger of escalating into an all-out nuclear war. Let it be a clean-cut showdown. Let's have enough force at the spot to make the decision sharp and relatively quick.

2. In this there is no substitute for "the personal sharing of the danger" by Americans meeting the Russians face to face. A quick face-to-face action in a location where Americans have overwhelming superiority will decrease—not increase—the chances of global war.

3. Such action will tend to convince the Soviet Union that the United States means business; it will make the Soviets more reluctant to take chances elsewhere in the world. So runs the theory.

THE CUBAN blockade meets these Taylor criteria, say Pentagon officials. It is a clean-cut showdown; the Soviet ships must submit or resist. The forces the U.S. Navy and Air Force have in the Cuban area are overwhelmingly superior to those the Soviet Union can bring to bear at the spot.

The U.S. Atlantic Fleet has six attack aircraft carriers, half of which will normally be available for the blockade. It has seven anti-submarine warfare support carriers. The United States on the spot can heavily outnumber the Soviet Union in destroyers, cruisers, submarines.

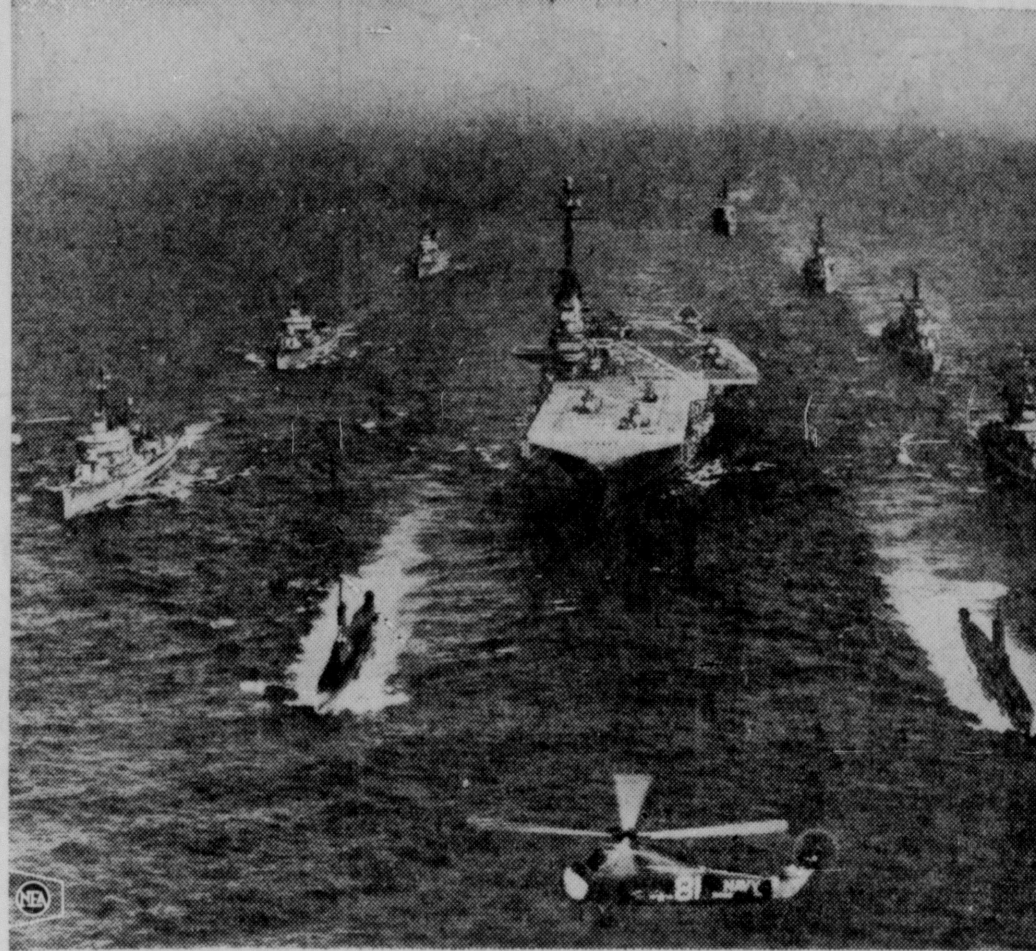

The Russians have few bombers and fighters available for use any distance off the Cuban coast. The U. S. Navy and Air Force can make a sizable chunk of the American fighter and bomber forces available from carriers and from airfields in the Southeast.

U.S. SUPPLY LINES are short in the Cuban area; Russian supply lines are long. If fighting breaks out, it will be between ships or planes at sea, thus relatively easy to contain, unless the Russians want war. "Then the fat's in the fire anyway," says one Defense Department strategist.

To keep any fighting from spreading, U.S. orders have gone out to use no force unless necessary; use the bare minimum force needed to accomplish the blockade. If Cuban or Russian ships or planes fire on U.S. ships or aircraft, Americans will protect themselves. They will attack those forces attacking them. But they will not, according to the present Pentagon ground rules, schedule a general retaliatory attack on Russian or Cuban ships, planes or installations.

These restraining rules do not hold, of course, if the Cubans fire a ballistic missile at the United States or at any other Western Hemisphere country.

In the Cuban blockade there can be no feeling the U.S. is asking its allies to stick their necks out while the U.S. backs them up. It's the American necks that are on the block. The Taylor theory holds that the U.S. open show of willingness to risk American necks will boost the confidence of American allies and increase their willingness to stand firm.

Contrast these Cuban blockade conditions with Laos, South Vietnam, Turkey, Iran or West Berlin.

IN EVERY CASE, U.S. supply lines are long, the Red bloc supply lines short. Near Berlin, the Soviet Union has a marked superiority of highly mechanized army divisions, paratroop and airborne divisions, fighter and bomber planes. The same is true at the Iranian and Turkish borders. In Laos and South Viet Nam, Red North Vietnamese and Red Chinese can throw in troops much faster than can the United States.

To hold off the Russians in Western Europe, Turkey or Iran, American troops might be forced into a quick use of atomic weapons. Inevitably the Soviet Union would do the same. Cities would be hit. The fighting could easily escalate into full scale nuclear war.

EVEN IN THE Cuban blockade, of course, Khrushchev could spread the action. He could retaliate with a blockade around Berlin or action against Turkey, where the U. S. has bases, or Iran.

If Khrushchev does move in those areas, he will be risking war. For Pentagon officials say the Taylor theory holds the U.S. should run a Berlin blockade, for example, if it was imposed. The joint chiefs have worked out and have on hand ready for use as of today detailed plans for defense in Turkey, Iran, Berlin and all Western Europe. There are a series of plans to meet a wide variety of possible threats.

This, of course, could result in all-out war, but the Taylor theory holds that if such limited Soviet aggressions are quickly "resisted with adequate means" there will be less risk of the conflict expanding into general war.
